Profile

I build AI-powered applications and configure collaborative AI agents for software development. I take projects from requirements and LLM integration through interface implementation and validation. At AKZ Pokrytiya LLC, I built a tool for technical document analysis and calculations that employees use in their work.

Current Experience

AKZ Pokrytiya LLC

AI Implementation & Automation Specialist · May 2026 - Present

- Configure a developer agent to orchestrate tasks across design and code review subagents. Define roles, instructions, task handoffs and review workflows.
- Integrate language models into application interfaces through APIs, covering data processing, presentation of results and user review before further use.
- Built an AI application used by employees to extract requirements from technical PDFs, support material selection, calculate quantities and costs, and export Excel files with formulas. A specialist verifies the results.
- Developing a vehicle waybill preparation tool with reference data, calculations and document exports, alongside a corporate website with a product catalog. Both projects are in development.
